Access to Personal Data

You have the right to request access to the information we have on you. You can do this by contacting us to info@inveza.com. We will make sure to provide you with a copy of the data we process about you. In order to comply with your request, we may ask you to verify your identity.

We will fulfil your request by sending your copy electronically, unless the request expressly specifies a different method. For any subsequent access request, we may charge you with an administrative fee.

Your rights regarding your personal data

In accordance with the Global Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) clients have the following rights: the right to be informed; the right of access; the right to rectification; the right to erasure; the right to restrict processing; the right to data portability; the right to object; the right not to be subject to automated decision-making including profiling.

In respect to the Client's rights, the Company informs you that you are able to exercise the above-mentioned rights if this does not contradict the legal requirements in relation to the Prevention of Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Laws, Record Keeping obligations of the Company etc.

Furthermore, clients have the right to be notified on a potential breach of personal data by the data controller:

Where a personal data breach is likely to result in a high risk to the rights and freedoms of a data subject, the controller must communicate the breach to the data subject without undue delay. The communication must describe in clear and plain language, the nature of the breach and at least:

- The name and contact details of the relevant Data Protection Controller;
- The likely consequences of the data breach; and
- Measures taken or proposed by the controller to address the breach and/or mitigate its effects.

There is, however, no requirement to make a notification to the data subject where any of the following conditions have been met:

- Technical and organizational measures have been applied to the personal data which will render it unintelligible to unauthorized persons (such as encryption);
- the controller has taken steps to ensure the originally high risk is no longer likely to materialize; or

- if notifying each data subject would involve disproportionate effort, in which case a public communication or other method of information is used which would inform the affected data subjects in a similarly effective manner.
